

DINA MITRANI GALLERY

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

The Lives of Books June 4 – August 27, 2016

Dina Mitrani Gallery is pleased to present The Lives of Books, opening June 4th at 7pm and on view through August 27th. This exhibition brings together a group of photographs that celebrates books and their aesthetic qualities as still lives. While mindful of the narratives conveyed through their pages, this show invites the viewer to inspect the journey of the book itself. In today's dominantly digital world, these images remind us to revisit the printed page, the bindings, textures, stories and histories.

Artists included are Mary Ellen Bartley (New York), Ellen Cantor (California), Marina Font (Miami), Max Steven Grossman (Colombia), Vadim Gushchin (Russia), Alexandra Rowley (New York), Phil Toledano (New York), and Michael Zimmerer (Miami).

Dina Mitrani Gallery opened in November 2008 and specializes in international contemporary photography. The gallery represents emerging and mid-career artists, and offers artists talks and lectures on photography as well as photo-based objects and books. The gallery is committed to promoting its artists, as well as working with other photography galleries to bring unique fine art photography to Miami. The gallery's mission is not only to exhibit and sell photography but also to educate and enhance community enrichment.
